

Constitutional law is a mandatory course at every law school in Canada and the United States. For this reason, and because the subject is so interesting, many people with interests in constitutional law have found their home on the Internet. The links found below are some that you may find of interest:

- Department of Justice, Canada
- Supreme Court of Canada, Constitutional Law
- Aboriginal Law and Legislation
- Centre for Constitutional Studies, University of Alberta